

First Black Cardinal, October 27, 2020.

The Catholic Church had elected the first black Cardinal. Talk about systemic racism. The Catholic Church accepted gays, before they accepted Blacks. We already had our first black president and they are just now getting the first black Cardinal. What about a black pope? You'll probably have to wait another 2000 years before you get a black pope. You have to wonder which Jesus these Catholics were serving? The Protestants however, they had the first black Jesus. So to them Jesus isn't racist, he's black and probably hates whites.

On the bright side, you gotta wonder if there is any black Catholics. I think they may have elected a black Cardinal, just to show that they are not racist. The black Cardinal they elected probably never went to a Catholic church in his life. The Catholics don't go door to door recruiting new members like the Jehovah witnesses and the Mormons. Catholic religion has pretty much been dying for the last 2000 years. It seems that every church in America is preaching against it and against the Pope. The Catholic churches in my area have been closed before the pandemic began.

I'm not saying the Protestants are right. The Protestants teachings are basically the teaching of Martin Luther. Now I support Martin Luther when he condemned the Catholic Church for selling salvation certificates. But I think Martin Luther had it wrong, when he said people could know God through reason. What is reason? There is a very thin line between reason, atheist logic and criminally insane rationalization. Someone should write a book on these three.

Atheist logic says, "that if God exist, then Mickey Mouse must also exist." To me that has nothing at all to do with reason or logic. It is completely mentally ill rationalization. There is a lot of these sayings, that people attribute to logic. The one saying I like is, "a man is someone who does what he doesn't want to do". This is a great saying, to get people to do things that they don't want to do. It has nothing to do with logic or reason. This is how they get men to kill women and children in wars, with this saying, "a man does what he don't want to do." Then people go off and start killing others for no reason at all. It's actually the opposite of what Jesus said. Jesus said, "do not do the things that you don't want to do, it will harm your soul." Now I forget where he said that at, but I'm sure that he said something like that. Maybe he just said it to me.

The Bible is pretty much against reason or logic. The Bible says do not take from the key of knowledge. This is why there's so many atheist. Most of what God does, has nothing to do with reason or logic. It has everything to do with God's will or God's pleasure. When God told Abraham to kill his only begotten son. No reason or logic there. Circumcising has no reason or logic. Basically you do it, because God said to do it. It's the will of God. In the New Testament Paul had described the crucifixion of Jesus, as God's will, and nothing to do with reason or logic. In fact Paul described it as a stumbling block for the Jews, because it went so much against reason or logic. It is the father telling his son to clean his room and when the son ask why, the father says, because I said so.

Over 2000 years after Jesus and people will still be arguing about salvation. The 12 apostles said to Jesus who then can be saved? Jesus said with men things are impossible, with God all things are possible. It is simply the will of God. There are sins punishable by death, but it is God who decides who lives and dies. He says he will show mercy, to those who he has mercy on. So some people can steal God's land and pay for it with their life. Other people can steal God's land and God could have mercy on them. It's like a parent who has two children and the younger child can get away with more than the older child, because the older child should know better. If you didn't know it was God's land, you may get away with claiming to own it. But once the preacher said it is God's land and you decided you were going to defend it with your gun, you are in danger of paying for the sin with your life. So two people may commit the same sin, but only one of them pay for it, with their life.

All sins may be forgiven of men, but sins against the Holy Ghost cannot be forgiven. Moses murdered an Egyptian. King David murdered a man to take his wife. But God shows mercy on who he will show mercy. Some peoples sins are covered by good deeds. This is why Jesus said to do as the scribes say and not as they do. Because the scribes and Pharisees, think their sins are forgiven. Because they think they are covered by their good works. And they may very well be. Only God knows.

This is why all the men of the Bible were very humble. Although God's 10 Commandments was written in stone, they take the I don't know, only God knows approach. So when God says to Ezekiel, "can these dry bones live" Ezekiel answers, "Lord only you know". You won't get this humbleness with modern-day preachers. They seem to tell you what God will and won't do.

God's will, is more about love, then it is logic or reason. Love seems to have nothing to do with logic or reason. Everything God tells Abraham to do, is a love test. If you love me, you will do the things I say. God said the world is like a contest. To see who will be saved. God puts before men life and death and they get to choose. Although they shouldn't get to choose it for their children, that's why I don't believe in abortion. If you believe in abortion, you should abort yourself. Those who love God, will be saved. The test for love is, are you willing to do what God says. Now with all these religions in the world, we just have to figure out what God said. That's why I think the Timothean religion is the only true religion. Unfortunately nobody bought the books.

If you want to follow the Catholics that's up to you. I'm not Catholic. All their Saints are dead. Jesus said those who follow him never die. It took 2000 years for the Catholics to select a black cardinal. They accepted gays first. Even though the Scripture says Christ can never die, they killed Christ, John 12:34. This New Testament references the Old Testament Scripture that says Christ can never die. But I don't know which old testament Scripture they are referring to. If there's any Jews out there who know, let me know. I think they may have taken that out of the Old Testament Bible. The church is good at deleting Scripture out of the Bible. There's been many Bible burnings over the last 2000 years. When they couldn't burn the Bibles, they changed the meaning of words. The word cross, meant anger, but they changed it to two sticks nailed together. So people are walking around with wooden crosses, rather than helping Jesus carry his anger. It says in John 12:34, "we have heard out of the law that Christ abided forever, how can you say the Son of Man must be lifted up." Here's another clue, it says the Son of Man and Jesus was the son of God. So it's not even saying that Christ will die, it's saying that the Son of Man must die. Who is the Son of Man? It's not Jesus. It's me and you. We are the sons of men. We must die and be raised from the dead.

I'm not going to claim to know it all. There might be a mystery here. Which no one can explain, without using criminally insane atheist logic. Jesus wasn't born. Mary was a virgin. Jesus was begotten of God. Which means he was called into existence, by the power of the word. God spoke a word and the word became flesh. The word begotten was interpreted as son. Because they did not know how to interpret the word begotten. It simply means created or called into existence. It was one of those words Jesus used, that wasn't in any dictionary and they were afraid to ask him.

There is an infancy Gospel of Christ that was rejected by the church. In that book Mary was a virgin, and Jesus simply appeared outside the womb. It was a supernatural birth which had many witnesses. In those days people gathered together to watch a woman give birth. After the Virgin gave birth, many doctors came in to witness the womb wasn't open like it is with other women who give birth. They brought other doctors in, because this was such a miracle, others came in. So it was well documented that Mary was a virgin. This wasn't something that the Catholic Church teaches and you should just accept by faith. It's well documented in the infancy Gospel of Christ, from the lost books of the Bible and the forgotten books of Eden. You can buy a copy of that book on eBay or Amazon.

Because Jesus wasn't born, he's not like us. Yes he was visible and had a body, but he had an incorruptible body. A body that couldn't die. This is why when Jesus said thrust your hand into my side, Thomas thrust his hand into Jesus's side and said, "my Lord and my God." Thomas knew, that Jesus didn't have the same body we have. His body could not be corrupted, by a fist through the side. Why is the church claiming that Jesus is the Son of Man? Because they're trying to make him into the Messiah, the seed of Joseph, a mortal man. They didn't want to believe he was God, even though Thomas said Jesus was God, they wanted to discredit Thomas, and slander his name by labeling him "doubting Thomas".

Jesus never called himself the Son of Man. It's the Catholics and the Christians that tried to make Jesus look like the Son of man. Because they believe Jesus is the Savior. Jesus is not the Savior, he is God. If God was the Savior, he would not need disciples. They get this from Matthew chapter 18:11. Which says, "for the Son of Man came to save that which was lost." But they are taking it out of context. This is not talking about Jesus, this is talking about Jesus's followers. The followers of Jesus are the sons of men. The followers of Jesus are the saviors. Jesus said the work is great, but the laborers are few. He told his followers to heal the sick and raise the dead. He didn't say sit back and watch me do it, I am God. Read the whole chapter of Matthew chapter 18. The 12 apostles are the saviors. But I don't think they saved anyone, I think they were killed. They are the ones going around preaching the gospel saving people. If God was the Savior, he would not need 12 apostles or any preachers to save anyone. People would just be born saved.

What does Matthew chapter 18 say? In the first verse the disciples are asking Jesus who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? Then Jesus calls a little child and sets the child in the midst of them. And he says verily I say to you, except you be converted and become as little children, you shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. In verse four he continues, whoever therefore shall humble himself as the little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. Now you are probably expecting Jesus to say I'm the Savior, I'm the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. I'm sure that's the answer every Christian and Catholic will give. But read the chapter and stop listening to the Christian and Catholic cardinals who took 2000 years to decide if a black man should be a cardinal.

Then Jesus says in verse five, who so receive one such little child in my name, receives me. But who so offend one of these little ones, which believe in me, it would be better for him that a millstone were hanged around his neck and that he was drowned in the depth of the sea. He continues with what's going to happen to the people who don't believe in the saviors. In verse 10, he says take heed that you did not despise one of these little ones, for I say and you, that in heaven their angels do behold the face of my father which is in heaven. Until he gets to verse 11, that says, for the Son of Man is come to save that which was lost. So who is coming to save the loss in Matthew chapter 18? Is it Jesus or is it the apostles that he sends? Who's the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? Did Jesus say that he was? You need to read the chapter several times, because from what I read, Jesus just answered them in chapter 18:4. Whoever shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

There's more on this I'll probably have to write a book on it. Kind of getting off the subject of the black cardinal. Thanks for watching.
